

P2

P3

Correct error:

Move each point according to the related master change vector. This is closer to the final solution. Repeat this process until the total error is below some value.