Adding vectors is graphically equivalent to placing them end-to-end. The result is the arrow from the starting location to the endpoint of the final vector.

P1